Interest Analysis

High Interest Scorers are above the 70th percentage. Average Interest Scores are between the 40th and 70th percentage. Low Interest Scores are below the 40th percentage.

Broad Profile

Broad profiles occur when an individual has a high level of interest in at least four or more of the six interest areas. There are a couple of reasons why a person may get a broad profile. First, the individual may have a diverse range of interests. This means that they like a wide variety of activities, even though the activities are very different from one another. The challenge when working with these individuals is to narrow their focus onto the interests that are “most” important to them, or those they would like to fulfill in their work life. The remaining interests can be met through hobbies or other activities that take place outside of work. Second, the individual may have responded with an optimistic response pattern or socially desirable pattern, endorsing items as likes in order to avoid eliminating any opportunities. These people may feel uncomfortable limiting their options and want to keep all their avenues open. To combat with this problem, individuals having such profiles can be counseled and briefed regarding the benefit of focusing on the highest areas of interest so more time can be spent examining occupations that fit best. In order to facilitate this process, the individual may need to retake the Wheebox Career Interest Test and adopt a more discriminating approach when responding to the items.

Interest Description:

The Baro Test measures 6 broad areas of interest: Realistic, Investigative, Artistic, Social, Enterprising and Conventional. Your specific interest areas are given below along with the suggested careers.

Realistic

Enjoy physical activity, working with their hands and are mechanically-inclined. They enjoy working outdoors and do not mind dealing with physical risks on the job. They are more comfortable using their practical skills than having to deal with people or expressing their ideas.

Investigative

Enjoy the challenge of problem solving in mathematics, technology and sciences and the abstract and practical ideas related to these areas. They have a great deal of curiosity about the physical world. Applied science, such as engineering, technology or computer science may also be of interest to them. They often derive more satisfaction from a job well done than from pleasing other people. They can be technically creative.

Artistic

Enjoy expressing themselves in artistic ways such as acting, dancing, creating music or visual art, or by expressing their ideas either through discussion or debate. They appreciate these creative talents in others as well. Their whole range of interests is wide. They adapt to change well and like jobs that are not too routine.

Social

Enjoy work activities that assist others and promote learning and personal development. They are interested in helping to keep others emotionally or physically healthy, or in teaching others. They are thought of as responsible, sympathetic, kind and supportive. They enjoy giving advice and working directly with people.

Enterprising

Enjoy activities that involve persuading others, carrying out projects and business ventures. They are confident, adventurous, assertive and show leadership. Money, power and status are attractive rewards to them. They are very often interested in the world of business, especially in the areas of supervision or sales.

Conventional

Enjoy working in large organizations, especially in the business world. They show careful attention to detail, are organized, follow instructions well and prefer jobs where their daily duties are regular and fixed. They may enjoy supervising others in jobs where rules and tasks are well defined. They are more comfortable with verbal tasks and working with figures rather than with jobs requiring physical activity or that may involve physical risk.
